California State Water Resources Control Board Curtailment of Water Rights

On June 8, the California State Water Resources Control Board (Water Board) curtailed all post-1914 appropriative water rights, pre-1914 appropriative water right claims, and riparian water right claims in the Calaveras River subwatershed outside of the Legal Delta.

The curtailment does prohibit the District from diverting natural flows in the Calaveras River, but does not prohibit the District from diverting water already stored in the New Hogan reservoir. District customers on the New Hogan conveyance systems may continue to order and receive water; and a normal irrigation season is still expected.

If you have questions about your individual appropriate water right and/or riparian water right, the District recommends you contact a water rights attorney.

Interim General Manager
